

Cretaceous Flying Reptiles and Bird-Like Dinosaurs

The first birds had appeared in the Late Jurassic, but they began to diversify during the Cretaceous. They still shared the skies with flying reptiles, the pterosaurs.

Also, Terrestrial reptiles such as snakes, lizards, and sphenodontians became more common as well.